

DHENEBCAPITALIS

BLOCK-BY-BLOCK MINI-CAMPAIGN MAP KEY

- 1 Palace of the Hierocrat. This massive structure looms over the capital city with a stern glare that matches that of its occupant, the leader of the Dheneb Capitalis. He who controls the Palace controls the capital city sector.
- 2 Supplicants' Gate. Pilgrims who make the long trek to Dheneb finish their journey at this massive gate. Here, at the base of the giant eagle, the faithful lift their prayers to the Emperor, whose spirit is believed to have once graced the structure.
- 3 Ascension Arch. When Imperial heroes die upon the surface of Dheneb, what's left of their bodies is brought to this arch to lie in state. Local Ministorum doctrine states that only on this holy ground does the Emperor embrace the souls of the fallen.
- 4 Low-Orbit Defence Laser Battery. The capital city has seen many attacks from space over the centuries. The Imperial Navy installed a laser battery platform to protect the Palace from any ships that might slip past a naval screen.
- 5 Statue of Saint Crassus. Crassus was a legendary commander of the Dheneb Imperial Guard. Long ago, the Guard erected this soaring statue in his honor. They also mounted a few artillery pieces in the statue's base for good measure.
- 6 Supplicants' Way. Pilgrims from across the sector make their way to the Capitalis, where they are made to wind their way through the city. Along the route they pass hundreds of shrines. At each one they stop and prostrate to the icons of the Emperor.
- 7 Armoured Archivum Transports. The Administratum produces thousands of sensitive documents each day. This armoured train carries them to the underground Archivum. In times of war, the train can also be used to move troops.
- 8 Promethium Distribution Conduits. Lifeblood of Dheneb and its sector fleets, Promethium fuel flows through pipes that cover the entire planet. Even the Capitalis has networks of these conduits running under its superstructure.
- 9 Over-Scribes' Hab Spires. The Administratum has a massive presence on Dheneb to control the capital's bureaucracy, and its Over-Scribes inhabit these lofty spires. Without them, the flow of information on Dheneb will cease.
- 10 Adeptus Mechanicus Sector. Though Dheneb's main export is a commodity and not a manufactured product, the Tech-Priests still have a large presence here. Their mechanical defenders will be quick to protect the precious Promethium.
- 11 Saint Avitohol's Stair. Brother Avitohol of the Ordo Xenos held this position against hundreds of greenskins when the Capitalis was assaulted centuries ago. The Stair still bears his name in honor of his devotion, self-sacrifice, and martial skill.
- 12 Promethium Benediction Metafont. Before this precious fuel can be sent out to feed the needs of the Imperium, it must be sanctified by the Adeptus Mechanicus and Ministorum to ensure its purity. All Promethium on Dheneb goes through the font.
